WE NOMINATE

Claude Everett Robinson, distinguished pioneer in the scientific study and analysis of public opinion, whose lifelong devotion to the "business of research" was a basic factor in the formation of Princeton Research Park, Inc., which within the next few weeks hopes to move ahead with its plans for developing a campus-like, tax-paying research center on a 66-acre tract at the "Township end" of North Harrison Street. In keeping with his habit of leading the way in a rapidly expanding field, the 56-year old Robinson, founder and president of Opinion Research Corporation and a founding partner of Gallup and Robinson, is serving as board chairman of the new organization that will help shape this community's growth.

The evolution of the contemplated "research park", an unusual but not a unique conception, was characteristic of the "team manner" in which Robinson and his associates hammer out ideas. Behind it lie some two years of give-and-take discussions involving a number of highly creative minds concerned with such necessities as office-space and parking facilities and, even more significantly, with the long-range research needs of business and industry. At the outset two two-story structures will accommodate the parent firms (Opinion Research and Gallup and Robinson); within the next decade it is reasonable to expect that a dozen or more research enterprises of the "non-nuisance" type will be housed in Princeton Research Park.

It is Robinson's conviction that "all of my life I have been preparing for my present job." A native of Portland, Ore., and the son of a county school superintendent, he was graduated from the University of Oregon with Phi Beta Kappa honors and took his advanced degrees at Columbia University, specializing in sociology and devoting his doctoral thesis to "Straw Votes, a Study of Political Prediction". Following three years as a Wall Street financial statistician, he became associate director of the Gallup Poll in 1936 and two years later brought into being the phenomenally successful Opinion Research Corporation which carries forward for some 200 clients a variety of research activities, ranging from advertising, public and industrial relations and studies of editorial problems to style design, pricing of products and dealer relations.

Robinson, a Medical Corps private in World War I and in 1945 the recipient of a national award for making the greatest wartime contribution to the national welfare through public relations, is understandably proud of his company's distinctive Public Opinion Index for Industry with a present membership of more than 90 leading American companies. This 14-year old monthly publication is a continuous sampling operation reporting opinion trends throughout the nation as they affect management policies. Indicative of its scope is the current issue that wrestles with the crucial problem of the "Attitudes of Engineers towards Their Jobs" and outlines how management can do a more effective job of "selling" industry to the men and women who make it tick.

For looking to the future and seeking to strengthen this community's research traditions; for constantly emphasizing no compromise with truth" in any kind of research; for translating into practical terms his understanding of the importance of "research" power in the world of tomorrow; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

BOOM TOWN

Progress—Now and Always. It has become almost trite and certainly repetitious to report that fast-growing Princeton is growing, for growth has developed into a daily habit here, and it can practically be visualized on a daily basis. But Princeton really took giant strides this week—in all directions—and there seems to be no better way to describe the near-startling situation.

Growth was the No. 1 item of business on the minds of the Borough's Councilmen, for example, when they gathered for their May meeting. Mayor Sturges has warned them repeatedly at earlier sessions that Princeton must consider seriously the idea of re-assessment of its property — for Princeton's (and taxes') sake. Unanimously, they agreed with the mayor and okayed the first such appraisal in decades (see full details, page 3).

In the Township, too, growth was a vital factor this week. After careful but non-hesitant deliberation Monday evening, the Township Planning Board adopted a resolution recommending an amendment to the zoning ordinance that will make Princeton Research Park a reality. Its members let it be known that they were anxious to complete their role in the matter with dispatch so the Township Committee can act on the resolution next Monday—and the park can start a-building by early summer.

Appearing before the board on behalf of the proposed 66-acre re-

"This Is Princeton"

This week, TOWN TOPICS introduces "This Is Princeton," a new column devoted to providing a lively, concise report on both major and minor activities in the community.

Most of the time, the column will indicate what's of vital significance to Princeton and the steadily - expanding area about it, along with the accomplishments of its residents as well as some of the lighter side of Princeton news.

Over the years, though, it's been readily apparent that the community has quiet weeks, too, and that's a form of news in itself. The intent will be informal at all times, with an eye to reporting steadily the kind of development which doesn't always reach the status of the prepared news release.

search project, C. T. Morris of Lewis C. Bowers & Sons suggested that the board word its zoning amendment to make way for the future establishment of "any research park," not just the elaborate one in question. The board exhibited its enthusiasm for expansion of this type in the Township by acknowledging the need for an all-inclusive amendment, and also by speeding its wholehearted approval of the unique Gallup & Robinson—ORC research venture.

Ground-Breaking Galore. Not to be outdone by its neighbors, West Windsor Township got into the act of progress by way of ground-breaking ceremonies for a new building wing and extension at the David Sarnoff Research Center. The additions at the RCA Laboratories, long a powerful influence in development of the Princeton area, will house a 40,000-volume library, offices and an ultra-modern demonstration room. (See picture, page 4).

Homes and businesses were not the only attention-getters as Princeton continued its thorough face-lifting job. Churches were still afforded top priority, and it was their week for growth, too. The simultaneous announcements came from the Jewish and Unitarian congregations, both planning new homes and hoping for ground-breakings in the immediate future (see story, page 23).

The Princeton Eagles, without a roost to call their own come July 1, announced no plans to break ground for a new structure, but turned to an urgent classified ad in Town Topics in hopes of finding a suitable lodge hall for purchase or rent. They will be obliged to leave their present upstairs headquarters at 134 Nassau Street, where Allen's Children Shop is expected to announce new plans for the hall above.

Tax Equality for All. "No one will ever succeed in making taxes popular," Mayor P. MacKay Sturges commented at Tuesday's Borough Council meeting, "but the least that can be done is to make them equitable."

So saying, he read a prepared statement urging immediate reassessment of taxable properties in the municipality, the first such move on a borough-wide basis since Princeton was incorporated in 1813. The contract will be assigned to a nationally-known Cleveland firm at a cost to Princeton of $16,700 and is scheduled for completion in time to be reflected on 1957 tax bills.

Wide fluctuations in property values over the past 20 years makes such a step essential, the Mayor declared. He pointed out that whereas numerous sales have been made recently in which the sum involved averaged about 34% of assessed value—directly in line with present borough policy—there are known instances where similar properties have had assessed values that ranged from 16% to 84% of the price obtained on a sale. This discrepancy is obviously most unfair to owners of particular properties," he commented "and to the borough taxpayers in general."

Mr. Sturges' statement emphasized the fact that reassessment will not mean any change in the total amount of taxes to be collected in future years. If rates are increased through the under-taking, the tax rate will be proportionately lower.

Individually, of course, some tax bills will be lower, some higher. Belief is that owners of older homes, which may not have been appraised for tax purposes in a matter of decades, but which have increased measurably in Hands Across Nassau St.

Plans for celebrating the 200th anniversary of the completion of Nassau Hall and the coming of the University to the Princeton community were revealed in a resolution passed Tuesday night by the mayor and council. The statement took note of the fact that since 1756, "the community and the college have grown from strength to strength in friendly and cooperative neighborhood until today they together form one of the great cultural centers of our nation."

Appropriate ceremonies will be held Sunday, September 23. Meantime, the Borough of Princeton has "encouraged its citizens to join agencies representing to Princeton University an appropriate symbol of the community's continuing regard for the passage of two centuries," Mayor P. MacKay Sturges and Township Mayor John H. Wallace, Jr. will name a committee to undertake such a project, with the likely chairman B. Franklin Bunn, only man ever to head both municipalities.

value with Princeton's booming real estate market, will pay proportionately higher taxes. Conversely, owners of new homes—assessed at post-war levels—may experience a slight decrease.

The move has the firm backing of the six-man council; of retiring assessor Harry B. Warren, going out of office July 1 after 23 years of service, and of his successor, Edward G. Warren; and of E. Rowland Major, Director of the State Division of Local Property Taxes.

"There will be ample opportunity for review, consultation and discussion with the firm of appraisers as to any changes," the Mayor declared, "and of course the usual legal safeguards remain in full force." But he added that in Cranford, N. J., where 10,000 reassessments were made by the firm which will scrutinize Princeton, "eight appeals resulted, of which two went to the higher courts and both were rejected."

Benham Takes Aik. Public sale of the Wine & Shop Nassau Street liquor store, was effected Wednesday morning with Robert A. Benham, one of the original partners, emerging as the sole owner. When the partnership was launched 10 years ago, Mr. Benham owned 60% and Robert D. McCarthy 40%.

Within the past three months, disagreement developed over Mr. Benham's plans for selling out his interest and the partnership was ordered into receivership, with the court naming Alfred J. Pietriferro, Princeton public accountant. When the two partners could not agree on a private sale, public disposition of the store was ordered.

Outbidding Mr. McCarthy when the sale was held this week at the Nassau Tavern, Mr. Benham's winning figure was $103,000. He was also required to purchase the $40,000 inventory and $28,000 in accounts receivable—bringing the total figure to $172,000. His cash outlay was reduced proportionately by his original 60% interest in the business.

Fire on Hodge Road. Several thousand dollars worth of damage was done Sunday morning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Menand, 140 Hodge Road, by fire which burned a wing of the three-story white clapboard residence. The general alarm was sounded shortly before noon.

Mr. Menand, who is assistant dean of the School of Engineering at Princeton University, attributed the cause to an incinerator which is built inside a chimney on that side of the house. He said the blaze, which destroyed most of the roof where it broke out, might have been smoldering under the shingle roof as long as 48 hours.

When it broke into flames, the fire was first noticed by a neighbor, J. Richardson Dilworth of 141 Hodge Road. Mr. Dilworth ran into the Menand home and told Mr. and Mrs. Menand, who were in an upstairs sitting room, that the roof above their kitchen was ablaze.

Furnishings in two bedrooms in that portion of the house were destroyed by flames and water, with water and smoke also doing considerable damage to the walls and ceilings. The fire was the latest in a series that have made the spring of 1956 one of the busiest periods the Princeton Fire Department has ever known.

Keep the Home Fires Burning. Plagued by an average of 25 to 30 calls a day from anxious Princetonians wanting to know if the Borough really intends to enforce the state's new air pollution control code, city fathers cleared the air this week. They definitely do not feel obliged to bother with its enforcement this year, and they may consider it next year (just maybe), they announced.

According to the code's technical points, no one is now permitted to burn any papers or debris—in fact, anything that doesn't grow in the yard—in incinerators. Borough leaders reason that the new law was written specifically to cover New Jersey's industrial areas, where air pollution is a major problem, so they don't believe Princeton should concern herself with the matter at this time.

In thinking ahead, the city fathers must answer an oft-debated question: "How far should Borough services go?" Enforcement of the code here would mean doubling the cost of collection to include all refuse and items included under the law, not to mention the added cost of policing to make the code enforceable. It also might take business away from Princeton's private collectors, who earn their livings from people, voluntarily hiring them.

After Fire, Some Smoke. Dismissal of a case because the investigating officer decided against signing the complaint made the most news in Township Court this Tuesday night as Magistrate Louis R. Gerber took the opportunity to urge "stricter enforcement." Pointing out that this is the time of year many Township residents "take it on themselves to start trash and field fires," he indicated he was disappointed the patrolman had declined to press charges against a man who set a recent fire that required fire department equipment and almost caused serious damage.

Citizens desiring to get rid of debris with their own fires must obtain permits from the Township fire marshal, the magistrate stressed, so that conditions will be right for control of the blazes. "In this particular case," he said, "if the wind had suddenly changed directions, a house would have gone up in smoke." He requested "stricter enforcement" of the law in such cases, especially since "houses are now closer together in the Township," and asked people to cooperate by not being so selfish in their individual interests.

In a holdover case, postponed while Magistrate Gerber pondered the possibility of perjury in previous testimony, Henry Servis, Berrian Avenue, Princeton Junction, and Harvey Willis, Groves Mill, entered pleas of "no defense" and were handed substantial fines. The former was assessed $30 for assault and battery and $20 for careless driving, and the latter was fined $50 for two charges of assault and battery and given a 60-day suspended, workhouse sentence, 30 days on each count.

The two defendants were originally brought into court on complaints signed by Albert T. Sandquist and Grahame P. Richards, Princeton University roommates who became acquainted with Messrs. Servis and Willis during a post-party, wage-influenced festivity near Penna Neck Circle. Mr. Willis was found guilty of attempting to choke Mr. Sandquist with his necktie, and also with using his fists on Mr. Richards in the middle of a brawl which resulted in a broken tooth for Mr. Sandquist as well as use of his fists on one of the plaintiffs by Mr. Servis.

R. E. Bullock, 106 Leigh Avenue, was fined $15 for driving the unlicensed auto, but the penalty was paid by his boss, Frank Shelton of Shelton Motor Company. Emphasizing that he doesn't assume responsibility for all traffic violations by his employees, Mr. Shelton said, "In this instance, I am to blame because my company asked this fellow to make a new auto from one of our stores to another, and it had no new plates on it."

A fine of $25 for careless driving was imposed on George A. Fiedler of Somerville, who appeared with his right arm and shoulder in casts and pleaded guilty. Mr. Fiedler was called "lucky" by Township police last month when his car skidded more than 180 feet into a telephone pole on Route 206. He crashed through the windshield and emerged with only the damaged arm and shoulder.

The Princeton Ballet Society is presenting "The Nutcracker" this Thursday afternoon and Friday evening in the McCarter.

News of the Theatres

BALLET SOCIETY

"The Nutcracker" arrives at McCarter Theatre for two performances this Thursday and Friday, climaxing the efforts of several hundred Princetonians, including 170 young people of the Princeton Ballet Society.

Few if any tickets remain for Thursday's performance at 3:30 p. m., which concludes the Children's Entertainment Series. Information may be obtained by calling 3876-W. Tickets printed for Friday afternoon will be used at the Thursday matinee.

The box office will open at 9:00 a. m. on Friday and a good number of tickets still remain for the performance at 8:15 p. m. They may also be obtained through the University Store.

"The Nutcracker" is a ballet in two acts. The music was written by Tchaikovsky and from it came his "Nutcracker Suite." The choreography, adjusted to the level of accomplishment of the various ages in the Ballet Society, has been done once again by Mrs. Audree Estey.

Accompaniment will be Mrs. Manuel Greenblatt and Miss Martha Braden at the pianos and by Miss Susan Rawls, harp. The madrigal group of Miss Fine's School under Miss Nancy Campbell will provide the musical background for the Dance of the Snowflakes.

Among the soloists will be Barbara Dilley as the Sugar Plum Fairy; Elinor Coffee as the Snowflake Queen, Lanie Johnson as the Candy Cane and Lucy Ann James dancing the Dew Drop Fairy.

FILM SERIES

"Paisan," one of the finest films in Italy's outstanding neo-realist post-war group, will close the current film series sponsored by Princeton Group Arts. Showings will be this Friday (5/11) at 7 and 9 p. m. in 50 McCosh Hall. Admission of 50 cents may be obtained at the door.

Music in Princeton

COMING EVENTS

PHS Concert. The annual band and orchestra concert, featuring some 135 Princeton High School instrumental music students, will be presented tonight at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The 65-member orchestra under the direction of Louis Richards will perform the War March from "Athalie" by Mendelssohn; selections from "Blossom Time;" "Granada" by Lara; "Moulin Rouge" by Arnic-Issac, and the Didon Overture, Piccini-Johnson.

Walter Horner will conduct the concert band of 80 pieces in "La Reine de Sabn" by Gounod and an Irish Tune from County Derry by Grainger. The symphonetta hand of 45 performers chosen from the concert group will play Hall's "New Colonial March;" the first movement of Borodin's Second Symphony; "On the Trail" by Grofe; parts of the "Firebird Suite" by Stravinsky and the "St. Blues March," Handy-Muller.

University Orchestra Concert. The Princeton University Orchestra under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi will give its final concert of the season this Saturday evening, May 12, at 8:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall. Sponsored by the Friends of Music, the concert will be open to the public without charge.

The program will run as follows: Bach's Suite in B minor for solo flute and strings; Symphony No. 1 in C major by Beethoven, and "Sea Songs" by the contemporary British composer Vaughn Williams.

John Solum, a junior at Princeton, will be the flute soloist in the Bach suite. Mr. Solum, a pupil of William Klineaid, is well known here for his numerous performances, as first flutist for the Princeton Symphony and in solo appearances in recitals and in orchestral and chamber music presentations.

Jazz Concert. Some of the finest works in jazzdom will be performed by Stan Rubin and his Tigertown Five in their Jaycee-sponsored concert on Saturday, May 19, at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets for the affair in McCarter Theatre are still available through Jaycee members, as well as at Frederick Harris, Princeton Stationers, Hinkson's, Princeton University Store and the Student Center.

Mr. Rubin, who gained fame as a Dixieland band leader and clarinetist during his undergraduate days at Princeton and has since spread into various metropolitan and international engagements, will be giving his second annual performance for the Jaycees.

Among the numbers listed in a program of two dozen great favorites are "Tiger Rag," "Rampart Street," "Sweet Georgia Brown," "Muskrat Ramble," "Basin Street Blues," "St. James Infirmary," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," "Margie," "Dardanella" and a host of others, including the traditional anthem of Dixieland, "When the Saints Go Marching In."

Short Notes. Dr. Oliver S. Plantinga of 335 Walnut Lane has been re-elected chairman of the board of directors for the New Brunswick Civic Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Plantinga has been

Folk Sing Scores

Murray Theatre hasn't shaken with as much applause in years as that for the performances of "3 Folk Sing" over the weekend. The mid-night hour and the occasion had something to do with it, of course, but the program of aged folk songs was a triumph in every respect.

Brooks Jones, Walt Winter, Ernestine Brown, aided by the accompaniment of Paul Prestopino, won their packed audiences not only with fine music and handsome singing, but also with skillful and graceful lighting and arrangement on the stage.

The success puts "3 Folk Sing" into contention as a potential Reunion attraction in June, and in addition, word has it that the program might wind up at the Circle in the Square Theatre off Broadway.

a member of the orchestra's board since its inception seven years ago.

Other Princetonians who are active in the organization are Mrs. Dorothy Stritesky, flutist, and Joseph Kovacs, violinist, both of Westminster Choir College, and Miss Olivia Plantinga, violist, a sophomore at Princeton High School. Max Pecker conducts the orchestra.

The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs concludes its current season this Sunday with a meeting at 5:15 in Miss Fine's School. Under the direction of Professor J. Merrill Knapp, the organization will sing Bach's B minor Mass, accompanied by orchestra.

It's New to Us

Open Road. Lured by the blossoming trees and the promise of that good earthy country smell, we took a trip to Hopewell the other fine spring day. We found, not only the trees and the good earth, but an assortment of dinosaurs (see box), tin tubs and spinach seed.

Trash and Treasure is a shop on Railroad Avenue, Hopewell. To reach it, you drive east on Broad Street to Blackwell Avenue, then turn right and drive the couple of blocks to Railroad Avenue. Turn left here and watch for a coral door.

Florence Johnson, who runs the shop, has a sign above the door called a "Gro-Board." It's a five-foot board, six inches wide, painted with a pastel background and a ladder of colorful figures.

Inches are marked along its edge. You stand your child against the board and mark his height. When he gets to five feet tall, you either stop or keep going on the wall.

Each Gro-Board carries the child's name in good bright, with the date of his birth. If you wish, the board has room for the name of every child in the family, up to four. Beyond four children you buy another board.

Below the name there are clouds and balloons or butterflies and daisies. Choice of white, pink, yellow or blue backgrounds. The boards are $5, and if the board is made for several children, you pay $1 for each name after the first one. The eldest is on the house.

For the same nursery, there's a big wooden toy chest painted after the manner of Peter Hunt with legends like "G is for school" "G is for gingerbread" on each side. The inside is bright coral pink.

To leave the nursery for a moment — Trash and Treasure has a 14-inch metal tub, painted white with a border of purple grapes, champagne bottles, bubbles and wine glasses. Use it for outdoor parties; it has a dozen holes to play. Fill it with ice to keep bottled drinks cool, suggest that your guests use it as an ashtray in the interests of a neat lawn. It's $14.95, and a big brother is $19.95, both hand-painted.

Good Earth. While we were in Hopewell, we paid a visit to Rorer's Hardware Store on Broad Street, and it was here that we found the spinach seed. Rorer's is a store for farmers and for people who like to dabble at being farmers, and if there is anything this store does not have, it has probably not been invented. (They do shy away from the shoddy and the gadgetry, as any good farmer would.)

Seeds grow by the acre at Rorer's. Some are in little envelopes, for the more effete customers. But most of the seeds are in quart glass jars, 120 of them, and you buy your garden by weight: five cents worth of lettuce seed or a quarter ounce of chard. We found a jar of globe artichoke seed, and one of popcorn, and herbs enough for a

Sabre-Tooth Tiger

Princeton mothers on the prowl for something of a different stripe in the tiger line might investigate a new offering at Trash and Treasure, Hopewell.

Take a plain colored T-shirt to this shop and for $3 you can have a sabre-tooth tiger stencilled on the front. Ferocious enough for even the smallest new-man. If your academic affections are elsewhere you may have a magnificent dinosaur or a Tyrannosaurus rex, both green and wicked-looking.

Politicians may choose donkey or elephant, and there is also a black poodle and a multi-colored cowboy. These designs are not confined to undershirt clothes. One of Trash and Treasure's customers had a tiger stencilled on her husband's shorts.

year of omelets: chives, basil, thyme, mustard, dill.

Across the aisle there are bins for corn, beans and peas. Six kinds of bush bean seed, seven kinds of corn, pole and bush limas. And on the shelf above, because man does not live by beans alone, there are boxes of dahlia tubers, gladioli, tuberous begonias and field of lilies. All these bulbs and tubers are jumbo size, sometimes hard to find.

Naturally, Rorer's is well-stocked with the chemicals necessary to grow all these crops without undue interference from bugs. Sprays, dusts and fertilizers proliferate beyond our experience. We found a spray for dairy cattle, several rose dusters and at least two bombs for the ultimate in convenience and destruction.

Spart Shorts. The pants collection at Rosette Pennington starts with long, tapered Slim Jims that encase the ankles and go all the way up to the shortest shorts this side of Bikini. In between is a vast collection of Bermudas and some Jamaicas in chamois, cotton cord, linen, cotton.

Shorts begin at $4.50. Bermudas come in khaki chamois, or pale blue chamois, and for $7.95 there is an olive pair and a pink pair. Mousgashlin linen shorts are deep cornflower blue, navy, copen or gray, and some cotton cords come in navy or white. Fine, quality cotton has been used for some white shorts with a belted back and a brass buckle. (Navy, too.)

Short shorts are chamois cloth in pale blue, grey or pink. Some short cords, too. In socks, there is a white duck with pale blue buttons at the anklebone, khaki slacks, too.

For the upper deck there are matching shirts and blouses like the one in turquoise and white stripes. It's short, rather stiff and is built to stand out away from the body. Has a boat neck and three-quarter sleeves. T-Shirt is basketweave with a little red turtle embroidered on the yoke. A sleeveless turtleneck in cotton jersey comes in navy, white or pink for $2.25.

On the skirt rack we found a linen wrap-around with a deep — Continued on Page 20 has done such a fine job of putting it into lively shape that you don't even have to remember that "The Braggart Warrior" is highly significant in the development of the drama.

Director Peter Nicolls has created a good ensemble performance with swift pace and polish. Everyone had at least a few good moments and nobody hampered the progress of the comedy.

Perhaps the only exceptional job of acting was done by Jack Schlegel, who for a second time on the Murray stage has done a handsome job of portraying an old man. With gestures and voice he made the cheerful senility of Periplectomenus a most winning characterization. But the others handled themselves well and lightly.

Remak Ramsey got off a few show-stopping postures and he could have reached more high points, but he was fine for his task regardless. Bruce Robbins was adept if not winning as the traditional clever slave.

Nell Duncan was bright and appealing as the deceiving concubine, while Mary Gonzalez handled an unusual bit of casting with curesse. Nancy Southgate rounded out the trio of ladies who added much spirit to the production.

Mr. Robbins' set was simple and effective—and skirted the need to dive into a thoroughly classic rendering of the stage. This was a quality that appeared everywhere in the show, of making a classical antique plausible in modern theatrical terms, of respecting but not cringing in awe.

"The Braggart Warrior" can't offer an audience much except stretches of farce and an exercise in the devices which have made comedy ever since. But in time makes the experience pleasant, anyway.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

"The Solid Gold Coddlie" with Billie Burke at the wheel will go on into a second week at the Bucks County Playhouse, being the first attraction of a 25-week season at the air-conditioned barn playhouse in New Hope.

Miss Burke will continue in the George F. Kaufman vehicle through Saturday, May 19. There are performances nightly except Sunday and matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2. She enacts the role in which Josephine

FIRST AT NEW HOPE: Billie Burke is in "The Solid Gold Coddlie," which has launched the season for the Bucks County Playhouse and will run through May 19.

Hull endeared herself to Broadway in the show's long run.

The next attraction will be "Anastasia," opening May 21. Mary Sinclair of television prominence will be starred.

MERLIN THEATRE

The Merlin Theatre of Princeton Theological Seminary will present "Thunder in Sycamore Street," a one-hour drama by Reginald Rose, this Friday night at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Seminary's campus center. The production is open to the public without admission charge.

"Thunder on Sycamore Street" is a television drama adapted for theatre production. It deals with mob reaction in a neighborhood when an ex-convict moves into the community.

The author of the play has in the past few years written several plays for television dealing with group dynamics in social problems. His "Twelve Angry Men," which was done by the Merlin Theatre last year, is currently being made into a motion picture.

The Merlin Theatre is composed of a group of theological students who are eager to see drama assume a larger place in the life of the church. Drama is viewed as one of the means of portraying human problems honestly and setting forth the relevance of the message of the church. The organization a year ago also performed Shaw's "Saint Joan."

The current production is under the direction of William Brower of the Seminary's speech department. He worked in theatre and television in New York prior to joining the Seminary faculty.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit (May 10-15) has the unusual him attribute of a substantial story. The lengthy epic (see special time schedule) runs from the averageness of the man in the G.P.S., to his struggles with the soul-less materialism of the advertising world and the problem of telling his wife about a wartime love affair. Extremely well-acted by Gregory Peck, Jennifer Jones, Frederic March, Marisa Fava, Lee J. Cobb and others. Color and CinemaScope.

Alexander the Great (May 16-22) has the elements of great scenes of warfare, mass scenes, roaring action, Technicolor, Cine-

Some people think that swimming pool owners must be endowed with unlimited wealth, while we attribute their ownership to wisdom more than abundance.

Add to the cost of your swimming club for and your stay at the shore, the wear and tear on your car, the gas and oil your trips burn up, cost of summer camp for the children, toll fares and high food prices of swimming resorts... and you'll agree.

It's particularly true, now that SYLVAN POOLS, pioneers in low cost pool construction, has introduced its new, contemporary model—designed to sell for less than the cost of a car.

Back in the Groove, Borough Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro's record 17-minute court session of last week probably will stand for a long time to come, if this Tuesday's marathon is any indication. Without having to handle anything but strictly routine offenses, the magistrate was nonetheless tied up for almost two hours, thanks to the tedious testimony that often accompanies traffic violations.

Most unusual of the cases before Magistrate Chesebro was represented by Paul Strube, Pennington, who was fined $15 for swearing at Patrolman James Kopliner while the latter was trying to maintain law and order on Prospect Street during last weekend's Houseparties festivities. Multiple violators were David W. Yoltan, Westminster Choir College, assessed $10 for a "stop" sign charge and $5 court costs only for driving without a tail light on his auto, and George Callup Jr., Great Road, who paid $15 for speeding and $5 costs only for going the wrong way on a one-way street.

Other Princeton-area motorists charged this week were: John F. Becker, 177 Terhune Road, $25 for speeding; Charles S. Brown, Wallace Road, Princeton Junction, and C. Edward Weasner, Pennington, $14 apiece for red light violation; and Suchu Chang Yeh, 39 Wiggins Street, $12 for "stop" sign offense.

"Boys Will Be Boys." Houseparties week end at Princeton University came and passed without serious injury or major disaster, though not without incident.

Probably the most noticeable of all reported occurrences was the burning of an upright piano, vintage and origin unknown, in front of Cottage Club on Prospect Street early Sunday evening. Borough police arrived on the scene in time to watch the blaze at full peak and receive the boos of its student "arsonists," and then summoned one fire engine to extinguish it.

Next day, after an examination of damage done to Prospect's black top by the heat, the Borough dispatched a $75 bill to the University's Inter-Club Committee.

Added to the bill, following a more extensive check of the general Houseparties area, were assessments for a mutilated "stop" sign at the corner of Olden Avenue and Prospect and a missing street marker for the same intersection.

Based on other week-end developments (see below), Borough police noted that much of the disturbance and damage (though not all of it) was caused by visitors from other colleges and high school students. They recommended closer supervision of Prospect Street events, to keep outsiders all the way out, at future Houseparties celebrations.

The police also admitted that "boys will be boys," but asked the usual spring question: "Why does it take so long to grow up?"

Proctor Down, Assaults Out. While Houseparties festivities were in full swing down Prospect Street (see above), University Proctor William Schannel was occupied with the task of apprehending two intoxicated Pennsylvanians who attempted to hijack a bicycle on campus. The ensuing scuffle resulted in a knocked-out front tooth for the diligent proctor and a wrestling match in President Dodds' garden, but Mr. Schannel finally collared his opponents and saw them incarcerated in Borough jail.

On Sunday, after a night behind bars, Eugene V. Bonner of Philadelphia and Edward M. Carney of Flourtown pleaded non-vult to disorderly charges when brought before Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro, sitting in special session. Both college students from schools in the Philadelphia area, Bonner—the tooth-remover—was fined $30 for his assault and Carney was fined $15 for his part in the ruckus.

William Hulick, a teenager from Cranbury, also received a disorderly fine for his Houseparties exploits, though not until Magistrate Chesebro's regular Tuesday court session. At that time, he pleaded guilty to taking a khaki jacket, belonging to Princeton student Don Buckard, from Cottage Club—allegedly "to keep warm"—and was charged $20 (jacket's value: $15.) Busy Matthew Glinko, Cottage Club manager, caught Hulick and also called police to the abovementioned piano fire.

ROBIN HOODS PREPARE: Four young archers get a few pointers from Howard Schrader, veteran Princeton sharpshooter, in preparation for the Princeton Country Day School Fair, which will be held Saturday, May 19, at the school grounds. Other "jousts" of skill and strength at the fete will be a rope climb, a tight-rope walk and balancing on a log. The quartet getting advance assistance are (left to right) David Smoyer, Toby Knox, Charlie Stuart and Bobby Griggs.

Rabies Clinic Set. Borough and Township health officials have announced that free anti-rabies clinics will be held next week, Monday through Friday. All residents of the Borough and Township are urged to have their dogs inoculated.

The clinics will be held Monday, May 14, in the rear of Borough Hall; Tuesday in the Township Garage; Wednesday in the Chestnut Street Firehouse; Thursday in the Township Garage and Friday in the rear of the Quarry Street School. Hours at the clinics will be from 4 to 6 p.m.

Troupers to Visit Fete. A "wagon show," featuring wrestlers, weight lifters, jugglers and a troupe of young actors, will be one of the many attractions of the P.C.D. Fair (see picture, page 10) which will be held at the school grounds on May 19. They will appear at 2 and 3:30 p.m.

A strolling guitarist will also be among the attractions of the annual fete. The show represents a combined production of students at the school, parents' committees and Princeton undergraduates.

Women in Head-on Collision. Four Princeton-area women counted their blessings this week after escaping serious injury in a head-on collision last Sunday evening. The accident occurred as they were returning to their homes from a Trenton conference of Bible school workers at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

Mrs. Ruth V. Shaw, 246 Hawthorne Avenue, was driving along Egger's Road, near Cheverly Road, in Lawrence Township when another auto, operated by 17-year-old Thomas Palmer of Trenton, swerved into her lane and crashed into her car. Young Palmer, cited for careless driving, told Lawrence Township police a blowout of his left front tire caused the mishap.

While Mrs. Shaw suffered only from the shock of the experience, her three passengers sustained minor bruises. Mrs. Frank A. Rechif, Rosedale Road, was treated for cuts on her left arm at Princeton Hospital. Mrs. Clarence Morehouse, 145 Hickory Court, and Mrs. Ruth Wadlin, Princeton Junction, were treated at McKinley Hospital for back

Mr. Palmer also came out of the collision with no physical damage, but his lone passenger, David Love of Trenton, required treatment for head cuts at Mercer Hospital.

Stillwell "Holding His Own." Critically injured 12 days ago when a head-on collision sent him through the windshield of his brother's auto, 80-year-old Oscar S. Stillwell, 22 Edgehill Street, was reported "holding his own" at Princeton Hospital this week. Attendants qualified the report with the optimistic note that the prominent contractor actually has "improved a little."

While concerned with Mr. Stillwell's personal well-being, heads of the Township and Borough police department also were concerned with the all-too-apparent increase in serious Princeton accidents in recent months, symbolized by the Stillwell crash. Both municipalities received safety citations for unblemished records in 1955, but each already has registered one fatality this year and come extremely close to several others.

In addition to watching hospital announcements regarding Mr. Stillwell's condition, police continued to watch progress reports on Emlin Smith, 106 Birch Avenue. Mr. Smith was admitted as a hospital patient on March 2, after suffering serious back injuries in a spectacular one-car accident on Lawrenceville Road, and has remained on the "critical" list ever since that time.

Not Alert After "Alert." Having spent last week's Civil Defense air raid "alert" (and considerable time before) in one of Princeton's more obliging pubs, R. Harry Evans of Long Island City made a big post-"alert" mistake. He decided to drive to his New York home.

Mistake No. 2 occurred moments later when Mr. Evans almost clipped Borough Sgt. Raymond Mondone, who was conducting traffic—just beginning to move after the mock raid—on Nassau Street. Patrolman George Knowles was irked by the visitor's errant driving and, taking a chance that Route 206 might be his intended course, whisked down Witherspoon Street in a patrol car in hopes of catching his quarry.

Mr. Evans, still proceeding in unsure fashion, was apprehended on Route 206, just north of its intersection with Witherspoon. With the aid of Sgt. Anthony Nini and Patrolman Fred Porter of the Township force, Officer Knowles got Mr. Evans to Princeton Hospital, where he was pronounced "unfit to drive," and then to Township jail, where he spent the night.

Next afternoon, Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber fined the defendant $225 for drunk driving and requested revocation of his New York license in this state for two years. Observing that we have plenty of our own road menaces without an influx from neighboring states, the magistrate also suggested license revocation in New York.

Two-Headed Monster. Princeton motorists in general seem to agree that the recently installed traffic lights at Bayard Lane and Nassau Street are aiding the flow of cars, but some of them also realize that a two-headed monster inhabits that intersection. Borough officials, beset with protests, are trying valiantly to eliminate the menace.

"Look for the Tiger"

For one thing, the turn from Nassau into Bayard is so sharp and the three designated lanes on Bayard are so laid out that it is impossible for big trucks to negotiate the turn without spreading into the wrong-way center lane, thus frightening people parked in the center lane waiting for a light change. For another, the white lines on Bayard are painted all the way to Boudinot Street, thereby causing southbound autos to get into the righthand lane too soon and wind up in line behind cars parked in front of the Peacock Inn.

While answering protests agreeably, Borough leaders are doing their best to have State Highway Department authorities cope with the monster, since the lights are state-installed. They want part of the lines to Boudinot wiped out to enable proper parking in front of the Inn and, as for the trucks' headache, well . . . no comment.

Art Exhibit Begins Sunday. An exhibition of drawings by Constance Cook (Mrs. Norman C. Moore) and paintings by Ed Connelly will open Sunday at The Little Gallery on Palmer Square. Mrs. Moore's drawings will be on display upstairs, while Mr. Connelly's paintings will be hung downstairs.

A native Princetonian and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Cook, Mrs. Moore is a graduate of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and has exhibited her work in group shows at the Art Alliance and the museum in Philadelphia and here in The Little Gallery. Mr. Connelly, also a graduate of the Academy, recently completed a one-man show in Philadelphia, his native city. The exhibit will continue through May 26.

Police Test Date Set. An examination for applicants interested in joining the Township police force will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Township Hall. Chief James Campbell said he has applications from seven candidates already, but will be delighted to accept additional applications up until noon of examination day.

The chief announced several weeks ago that one new officer will be hired, at a starting salary of $3,800 a year, to bring the force to a membership of 10 men. Applicants must be at least 21 years old, must have high school educations and must be two-year residents of the Township, he noted.

Bake Sale Plans. The Princeton Y.W.C.A. will hold a bake sale from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday at the corner of King and Butler Streets in the university housing development. In case of rain, the event will be transferred to 217-B King Street in the project.

Mrs. Robert L. Christensen and Mrs. Wesley L. Nicholson are co-chairmen for the project, which is planned to raise funds for the Y.W.C.A.'s programs. Other members of the committee include Mrs. Frank W. Bliss Jr., Mrs. Robin Gray, Mrs. Peter V. Gardner, Mrs. Van A. Harvey and Mrs. Vernon H. Blackman.

Scouting Groups Are Active. The belated arrival of spring has added impetus to scouting activities in the community. Some 250 Boy Scouts and 50 adult leaders participated last weekend in the Stony Brook District Camporee at Posner's Farm near Hopewell and Scout groups have scheduled meetings to discuss summer plans. At the Camporee, St. Paul's Troop 56 won four of the six first place awards in patrol competition and captured the overall award for High Patrol Points. Troop 50, sponsored by Trinity Church, reported it won two second places in patrol competition and placed fourth in overall standings.

Pat Donehue, pacer of the St. Paul's victory.

Next major event on the Troop 50 schedule is the Spring Court of Honor, scheduled for next Thursday in the Trinity Church parish house. Parents and friends are invited to the 8 p.m. ceremony. Streamers for the patrol standards of winning patrols at the District Camporee will be presented at this time.

Meanwhile, two Cub Scout groups are planning monthly meetings. Cub Scout Pack 77 will hold its meeting at the Valley Road school this Thursday evening. Cubs will exhibit examples of handicrafts and the Princeton Unit fencing team will present a program.

St. Paul's Cub Scout Pack 56 will present skills worked out by its den on the May 22 pack meeting. Pack 56, which now has 40 Cub Scouts, will join Boy Scout Troop 56 for a picnic at the end of the school year.

At a meeting of the Pack Committee plans were made for the den to meet informally during the summer at den meetings and several outdoor affairs, which will feature baseball, swimming and campfire meals. Patrick Coleman, institutional representative of the pack, reported that the proceeds from the sale of the den will be presented to Mrs. F. J. Worthington who exceeded $55.

"Open House" Hostesses. Two dozens hostesses have been chosen for "Open House" next Saturday, May 19, the biennial tour of ten homes sponsored by the Mount Holyoke and Radcliffe Clubs of Princeton and Princeton.

The hostesses are: Mrs. Bronson Binger, Mrs. Sylvain Bromberger, Mrs. Archibald Crossley, Mrs. Thomas Darell, Mrs. Lawrence Holland, Mrs. Darrell Johnson.

Obituaries

Willis R. Burd, 86, of 20 Princeton Avenue, Hopewell, died May 24 at his home. A farmer for many years in Mount Rose, Mr. Burd lived in Hopewell following his retirement.

husband of the late Margaret A. Leigh Burd, he is survived by a son, Willis S. of Hopewell; a daughter, Russell Sulphur of Plainsboro; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Randall of Lawrenceville; a brother, Henry, of Pleasantville; and seven grandchildren.

The service will be held Thursday morning at 11 at the Cromwell Memorial Home, Hopewell. Burial will be in the Old School Baptist Cemetery.

Miss Maria Pemberton, 44, of 12 Shirley Court, died May 2 in Princeton Hospital. A resident of Princeton for the past 12 years, she was the operator of Pemberton's Beauty Parlor.

Born in Tunstall, Va., she is survived by five sisters, among them Miss Pauline Pemberton of Princeton; and seven brothers, including Henry of Princeton. The funeral was held at the Lebanon Baptist Church, Tunstall, with burial in the cemetery there.

John Yaros, 69, of Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, died May 5 in Princeton Hospital after a long illness. Born in Czechoslovakia, he had lived in this country for the past 54 years and had been a farmer for the greater part of his life.

Mr. Yaros belonged to St. John's Lutheran Church of Trenton and the Pioneer Grange of Dayton. He had lived in this area since 1914.

His survivors include his wife, Marie Leone Yaros; five daughters, among them Mrs. Lester H. Sord, Miss Bess Yaros and Mrs. Elwood Landis, all of Monmouth Junction; three sons, a brother, two sisters and 14 grandchildren.

The service was held Tuesday at a Cranbury funeral home, with Rev. Henry W. Heaps, pastor of the Kingston Presbyterian Church, officiating. Cremation followed at the Ewing Crematorium.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy, floral tributes and use of automobiles during our recent bereavement.

Family of the late Roscoe Douglas

Princeton in Japan

Four residents of Princeton are among 17 members of the Class of 1925 en route to Tokyo for a reunion unprecedented in the history of a reunion-conscious university.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Caldwell of Lake Road and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Williams of Liberty Place are among those who accepted an invitation to all members of the class extended by Yoshie Osawa '25 to be his guest for a week in Japan. Twelve members of the class will be accompanied by their wives, while three sons serving in the Pacific area with the armed forces will also attend.

Mr. Osawa (who reportedly will spend some $10,000 in entertaining his guests and conducting them on a whirlwind tour of the island) wants his guests to "see some of the beauties of my Japan and perhaps gain a better understanding of my country." He hopes to repay his classmate "for the kindness I found in America while an undergraduate at Princeton" — to which he has returned for reunions in 1928, 1935 and 1950, thereby winning the long-distance trophy on three occasions.

son, Mrs. Walter Kaumann, Mrs. B. Mather, Mrs. Herman Maurer, Mrs. Stratford Mills, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. Paul Orr, Mrs. Martin Schwartzchild, Mrs. Bernard Shea, Mrs. Francis Sutton and Mrs. George Thomas of Princeton; Mrs. D. W. Hollingsworth, Yardley, Pa.; Mrs. Walter Nickerson, Penns Neck; Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Mrs. Bruce Bager, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Mrs. Thomas Page, and Mrs. L. W. Tostevin of Lawrenceville.

Tickets at $2 are still available through Mrs. Richard H. Williams, 512 Ewing Street, and at Hinkley, Hamberger's, the University Store and the Jeger Shop in Lawrenceville.

T.B. Sales Reported. The Chestnut Seal Sale of the Princeton Tuberculosis League collected $5,383.33 in its first sale since leaving the Community Chest, Mrs. Shove Palmer, chairman, reported at the League's annual meeting.

According to Miss Eva Darlington, visiting nurse for the League, six cases were diagnosed since 1955, while three patients were re-admitted to a sanatorium.

While the beginning of the year she added, three new cases have been discovered in the community.

During the past year, the group reported, 11 clinics were held, while 2,601 X-Rays were taken by the Mobile X-Ray Unit. Eighty-five persons were found to have pulmonary abnormalities and were sent to the clinics or their family doctors.

The League elected Dr. W. H. York president for the coming year. Other officers include Dr. William Kleinberg, vice-president; Mrs. W. L. Carlson, secretary; and Mrs. Norman J. Anderson, treasurer.

Antiques Show Planned. The second annual Basking Ridge Antique Show will be held next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday under the direction of a group of 23 dealers who will exhibit antiques from the United States, Europe and the Far East. The show will be held at the Bishop James Methodist Church in Basking Ridge.

The hours of the sale will be from 11 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday and 1 to 9 p.m. on Friday. The snack bar will open each day at 12 noon. Mrs. Marion Boelchert of Finley Avenue, Basking Ridge, is managing the show, which is co-sponsored by the Women's Society of the church and the men's Town Club.

Junior Faculty Wives Meeting. "The Hearing," a satire in the Gilbert and Sullivan vein recently presented in Murray Theatre, will be done before a meeting of the Junior Faculty Wives next Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Second Presbyterian Church.

New officers for the coming year will be elected and installed. Nominations may still be made from the floor.

Join Day Camp. Staff, Stanley Sieja, Princeton University fencing coach and veteran of Olympic coaching, will serve as athletic director this summer of the Shiptetukin Country Day Camp, Bradley Kehoe, director of the camp has announced. Established by Mr. Kehoe last year, the camp is located on property bounded by Lawrenceville, Province Line and Carson Roads.

Miss Leone Cranston of the Princeton — Lawrenceville Road will direct arts and crafts. A textile design major at the Moore Institute of Arts, Science and Industry in Philadelphia, Miss Cranston has had several years' experience as an art director and camp counselor.

The Shiptetukin Camp will hold two five-week camping periods, the first from June 25 to July 27 and the second from July 30 to August 31. Campers may attend either or both of the sessions. Early enrollments indicate the campers will range in age from 5 to 15.

THE THREE R'S WERE MORE LIKE FIFTY: Asked to tell what impressed them most during their days at Miss Fine's School, these young ladies—all seniors at the popular Princeton Institution—came up with a wide variety of answers. They indicated that schooling here has meant much more than the basics of education. Lending their soon-to-be Alma Mater support were (left to right, front row) Misses Charlotte Cook, Margaret Pacsu and Patricia Andrews; (back row) Misses Theano Kelaidi, Anne Harrison, Marina Turkevich, Betsy Thomas, Beth MacNeil and Hobey Alsop. For their answers, see Question of the Week below. (Alan Richards Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Now that it's almost over, what has impressed you most about your schooling here? (Asked only to seniors).

Location: Miss Fine's School.

Miss Hobey Alsop, Overbrook Farm, Middlebush: The honor system that the students run. It builds up over the years, and was very strong this year. I certainly feel I benefited a great deal from this feeling of trust and responsibility.

Miss Beth MacNeil, Cherry Valley Road: Besides the great academic value, the opportunity to mix with a community that offers such widespread activities. Things like the Savoyards of Princeton, Buskins and Socks and volunteer work at Princeton Nursery School. I got a chance to work at the Public Library, and really enjoyed it.

Miss Betsy Thomas, 162 Mercer Street: The experience of getting to know teachers well and benefiting from them as well as books. They're very good here, and I feel we learned our citizenship better than anything we could read.

Miss Marina Turkevich, 109 Rollingmeade: The close relationship between teachers and students, and the individual interest and help which the teachers give each student. It's partly due to the small size of our classes and partly due to the emphasis on close faculty consultation.

Miss Anne Harrison, 9 Battle Road: Such a small school can expand our interests in all activities and organizations so that we learn something about each. Students here have the opportunity to lead these activities—in other words, it's on their shoulders. This opportunity helps them decide which are the most important to them and which they may want to pursue in college or elsewhere.

Miss Theano Kelaidi, 80 Edgerstone Road, exchange student from Greece: I've only been here one year from Greece—and I've listened carefully to all the remarks of the other girls in answer to your question. They are good answers, but I think I have been most impressed by the fact that schooling here is more complete than the European schools. I feel I know more about life as a result of this completeness. I have also been impressed by the honesty of the students, and the fact that the school is so small I have gotten to know everybody—it's very friendly!

Miss Patricia Andrews, Ridge Road, Kingston: The introduction, in our courses, to subjects we may continue in college—like philosophy, economics, psychology and sociology. We know a little bit about everything—the sort of coverage we might have missed at a larger school—and now we're in a good position to select what we want.

Miss Margaret Pacsu, 152 Winant Road: The extreme liberality in expressing ideas. We can say what we feel—we're not suppressed in any way. The teachers, too, can say what they feel, and they very often do.

Miss Charlotte Cook, 696 Kingston Road: The fact that our English and history and language courses are all inter-related. So we get a relatively well-rounded picture of anything we study. I like the complete idea of how they all fit together.

EVERYTHING BUT A BOAT: That's what can be and is carried by the Township Police Department's newly-acquired 1956 Ford Ranch Wagon (with Thunderbird motor), displayed by two of its usual occupants, Patrolmen Norm Servis (left) and Fred Porer. The former, wearing one of a pair of white (far right) raincoats, is burning one of 10 highway flares (good for 20 minutes each) while the latter is checking a Scott Air-Pak unit, used in fighting fire and smoke. Also exhibited beside the sleek wagon are 200 feet of rope, two Mae West life preservers, a crowbar, two blankets, a foam extinguisher for gasoline fires, an oxygen-giving unit and a new anti-freeze, air pressure extinguisher that shoots water 60 feet. Incidentally, the department really does need a boat—for emergency rescue missions, not for permanent inclusion in the already-filled Ford. (Richards Photo)

Food Galore for Fete. Hours for the 1956 Princeton Hospital Fete will be long — 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. — but no one will go home hungry from the gala event, especially those who take advantage of all the food to be offered this year. There will be something for everyone, according to Mrs. William G. Mollenkopf, chairman of the food committee, and her assistant, Mrs. B. Roy Norton Jr.

Tables will be set up outside the buildings of Westminster Choir College, site of the June 2 event, for use by persons eating sandwiches, ice cream and soft drinks. Sandwiches will be served by volunteers ("Pink Ladies") from the hospital.

Women's auxiliaries of various Princeton organizations will contribute certain items, to be sold near the table area. Included in this group are the Lion's Club (ice cream), Trinity Church (coffee) and Second Presbyterian Church (hot dogs).

In addition, there will be booths where other assorted foods will be sold. These will be donated and manned by the following: First Presbyterian Church (homemade pies); Methodist Church (homemade cakes); Baptist Church (breads and rolls); doctors' wives (gourmet foods); Lutheran Church (homemade candy); and Hadassah (casserole dishes, fried chicken and traditional Hebrew foods).

Hun To Hold Fete. More than two dozen hobby, art and crafts exhibits will be on display at the annual Hun School Spring Festival, which will be held at the school on Saturday afternoon. The show, sponsored by the School Auxiliary, is arranged to raise funds for scholarships and improvements.

The theme of the show, "History and Hobbies at Hun" will be carried out by several of the students, including Donald B. Reynolds Jr. of Princeton, who will show Princeton history as reflected in postage stamps. Old prints of Trenton, vintage sheet music, antiques and old silver will also be on display.

Sports enthusiasts will have displays of fly casting, gun handling and safety, electric trains and magic. Many artists will be represented at the festival, including Florence Starr Taylor, of Lancaster, Pa., Mrs. Margaret Johnson and Robert Harlow of Princeton and Mrs. Kenneth Stevenson of Trenton.

Members of the Auxiliary will sponsor a White Elephant table at the festival, while refreshments will be served throughout the afternoon. Admission is $2, with children under 12 free of charge.

Community Services Meeting. The Council of Community Services will elect officers, directors and individual members at its annual meeting Wednesday, May 23, at the First Presbyterian Church. The Council's 10th anniversary will be observed and its prospective closer affiliation with the United Community Fund will be discussed.

The Council has arranged a panel discussion on planning a joint future with the Community Fund. Dr. Warren Findley will act as moderator. Guest members of the panel will be Miss Doris Swain, professor in the Graduate School of Social Work at Rutgers University, and Walter H. Scott, newly-appointed executive of the United Community Fund.

Annual Women's Club Meeting. The Princeton Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its annual meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at the Peacock Inn. Plans for the year will be discussed and reports from the various committees will be made.

A slate of officers will be suggested by the nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Leonard Kraus, chairman; Mrs. Celeste Everline, Miss Esther Stalker and Mrs. Ethel Yeoman. Dessert will be served.

League Plans Unit Meetings. The May unit meetings of the League of Women Voters will consider the topic—"The United Nations After 10 Years: Do Its Members Have the Courage of the U.N.'s Convictions?"

Such questions will be considered as why the much-discussed revision of the U.N. Charter did not take place, how the admission last fall of 16 new member nations will affect the U.N., and whether the proposed "Atoms for Peace" program can possibly be adopted at the next session. League members may also discuss what part the international organization might play in economic development and the U.N.'s role in arbitrating disputes between nations.

The Tuesday evening meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Frederick Dunn, 25 Mercer Street, with Mrs. Thomas Maloney leading the discussion. Mrs. William Dix, 139 Broadmead, will be host to the Wednesday morning meeting at 10 a.m. Mrs. John B. Hughes will lead the discussion.

A Thursday afternoon meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Julian Boyd, 120 Broadmead. Mrs. C. E. Black will be the leader.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Set. The annual YWCA Mother-Daughter Banquet will be held May 24 at the First Presbyterian Church at 6:30 p.m.

The program will center around the YWCA Leader Corps—a service club of high school juniors and seniors. Officers of the group are Nancy Yeoman, president; Julia Sommerville, vice-president; Sandy Nolf, secretary; and Mildred Church, Jewell Kennedy and Nancy Beekman, editors and co-editors of the Y-Teen newspaper. Reservations must be made and paid for by Monday, May 21.

Montgomery Township Show. The Montgomery Township Parent-Teacher Association will present a fashion show and musical entertainment Friday at 8 p.m. in the Harlingen Church House. Bamberger's will present a colorful cottons for daytime, sportswear and formal occasions modeled by children and mothers of Montgomery Township.

The entertainment will include vocal selections by Eleanor Holly, Sally Mark, Lynn Mark, Dorothy Orr, Herman Ward and George Olson. Carolyn Dale will be the commentator, assisted by Herman Ward, who will express his views on feminine fashions.

Behavior Deplored.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

With reasonable concern, I have read your commentary relative to the "courteous behavior" accorded Alger Hiss by the student body. Why was such conduct not accorded a member of the clergy?

In contrast, Father Hugh Halton, of the good, and the students in general were disrespectful. Certainly such conduct is not conducive to necessary "moral training" already sadly lacking in many of our universities. These name students should be reprimanded for such deplorable behavior toward Father Halton.

Cemetery "An Eyesore"

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Being a Princeton graduate of the vintage of 1912, I descended on Princeton over this past weekend, and, having no special place to go, meandered over to Princeton Cemetery, which I hadn't visited for over 40 years.

The people of Princeton have always been proud of their town, but judging from the appearance of the cemetery, once one is dead in Princeton one certainly seems to be forgotten.

If you will look at Eliza Rogers' monument, the cross which once graced the top of her tombstone is lying skimbo on one arm of the cross. Samuel D. Berger's monument is bending forward at an angle of 20 degrees, and he only died February 20, 1926. Whatever happened to Walter H. Lewis and his wife, Sygria, I don't know. Their monument is all right, but it shows that Walter was born in 1889 and Sygria in 1888. I understand that they are both dead, but their monument shows a blank 19—after each of their names. Someone evidently has not thought it worthwhile to put in the years of their deaths.

Most cemeteries are attractively landscaped. The Princeton Cemetery, however, from my point of view, almost completely lacks landscaping. An ugly, bare iron fence surrounds the entire cemetery. Why not plant some flowering hedge or evergreens in front of this fence to make the entire area more attractive looking?

The Chinese and Japanese are known as ancestor worshippers. They, at least, keep their graves well-tended. Why can't the Princeton community do likewise for their dead? Many prominent Princetonians are buried in this cemetery. Believe it or not, there are four signers of the Declaration of Independence, a Vice-President of the United States,

Season Shapes Up

The University Players, who will present Murray Theatre for eight weeks this summer, are at the point of a final decision on the plays to be done. The tentative line-up, subject to slight revision: Shaw's "Saint Joan," "Charlie's Aunt," "Blood Wedding," "The Grass Harp," one-act plays by Sarcov, Tennessee Williams and Thornton Wilder; a reading of "Under Milk Wood," story of a Scoundrel by Ostrovsky, and a play by Shakespeare to close the season out.

Incidentally, plans now are to open "Saint Joan" on Saturday, June 23, to run through the following Saturday. However, the other productions will run from Tuesday through Sunday only.

and a President of the United States buried here also.

There are enough wealthy families in Princeton to form a committee so that a proper rehabilitation of the cemetery could be made in short order, and at a comparatively small cost. Let such a committee visit Kenosia Cemetery in Westchester, and see how beautiful a cemetery can become, and how well-tended it will look with a comparatively small crew of men.

There is certainly no reason why, in a community as wealthy as Princeton, money cannot be collected for perpetual care, and, in addition, lots sold in perpetuity. This should greatly aid the cemetery budget and should permit the cemetery to engage an adequate number of attendants to really look after the place and, furthermore, give it enough money to do a proper and intelligent planning job. Why not make a garden spot worthy of Princeton out of Princeton Cemetery, rather than let it remain an eyesore to the community.

maScope and much else that makes up a super-war spectacle. It's better than some and should please most of the customers. Richard Burton does quite well as the great conqueror, and Frederic March, Danielle Darrieux and Claire Bloom assist in the enormous cast. Robert Ross, the director, writer, etc., tried to add a few ideas into what is basically an account of Alexander's life from youth on, liberally sprinkled with battles.

THE GARDEN

A Kid for Two Farthings (May 10-12) is a warm and charming little folk tale set in London's East End. A little boy (wonderfully played by Jonathan Ashmore) searches for a unicorn because he is told of its magical powers. The appealing family picture has David Kossoff as a kindly old tailor, Celia Johnson in a fine character portrayal, and luscious Diana Dors as the love interest. Well directed by Carol Reed. Compelling as a work.

The Return of Don Camillo (May 14-19) continues the story of the comic rivalry between the communist mayor and the Catholic priest of a small Italian town. Fernandel and Gino Cervi labor hard at being, respectively, what suffers from some of the episodic and dragged out problems of "return" movies. In Italian with English titles.

Police Seek Improvement. Borough Chief John Smith and Township Chief James Campbell were two of nine Mercer County police leaders who went before the Board of Freeholders last Tuesday to seek funds for a proposed police training school for the county. The chiefs asked for $40,000 to initiate the novel program, and the freeholders indicated they were not only impressed but interested.

Explaining the idea, conceived by the nine police veterans, Chief Smith said he and his colleague believe that compulsory in-service training for all police officers—from captains on down—is a "must" for better protective forces. Since impressions registered by policemen on the people serve as each municipality's best (or worst) public relations, the chief noted that other Princeton Borough officials are strongly behind the project.

The county training school, probably located in Trenton, could offer 40 hours of intensive schooling each year for each policeman, the trainees to be paid $2 per hour for taking the courses on their own time. Classes would be taught by experienced police officers, FBI agents and experts from various governmental departments.

Providing the school is okayed, according to the Princeton chief, it will likely start in September, with 15 or so officers from all over the county participating in four hours' worth of courses each day for two weeks each, in a period of six or seven months, then, the 393 trainees in the county would be covered.

Chiefs Smith and Campbell stressed the point that the training now taken at Sea Girl represents good basic knowledge of police work, or about 10% of what the chiefs expect of a man. The proposed training school would cover the other 90%, they said, pointing out that in-service is particularly valuable because the men would keep receiving it year after year.

Emphasizing their desire for uniformity between the forces of the county, the chiefs laid out a sound financial argument. The freeholders received $76,501 in fines from the county police departments last year ($6,810 from Princeton Borough and $4,235 from Princeton Township) and the new school would cost but $40,000 for its opening year ($17,600 to pay Borough officers and $17,200 for Township police.)

Men's Benefit Fashion Show. Five Princeton residents will be among a number of men from the Princeton-Trenton area who will model men's fashions in a show to be sponsored by the Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. The show will be held May 23 at the Arnold Constable store in Trenton.

Representing Princeton will be Thomas C. Roberts, A. Munroe Wade, Hollett Johnson Jr., Professor Insley B. Pyne and Watts Humphrey. Tickets, priced at $1.50 each, may be obtained from Mrs. Thomas C. Roberts, 32 Hedge Road, (1-1066).

Mrs. Roberts will entertain the participants, their wives and the board of directors of the Chapter Wednesday. Proceeds from the show will be used to help patients stricken with Multiple Sclerosis and to support research projects dealing with the cause and cure of the disease.

Scholarship Goal Topped. The fund-raising committee of the Princeton High School Parent-Teacher Association has announced that $15,000 was raised this year for scholarships—more than double the goal of $700.

A teacher's scholarship of $250 was made possible from increased P.T.A. dues. The remaining $12,500, raised from magazine subscription sales, will enable the Scholarship Committee to award more grants to deserving graduates of the high school.

The committee solicits and accepts subscriptions to 5,000 magazines on a year-round basis. Those interested in the program should call or write Mrs. Leon Nergard, 11 Hollingshead, (1-5194).

Mrs. Joseph W. Miller Jr., chairman of the fund-raising committee, attributed much of the success of the project to Mrs. K.P. Wilson, chairman of the solicitors in last Fall's house-to-house canvass. Borough residents who assisted in the campaign include Mrs. J. A. Murray, Mrs. Richard Lester, Mrs. S. C. Goodrich, Mrs. Lester Plum, Mrs. S. T. PRESSURE SHOWS: Royce Filppin, Princeton second baseman, crosses the plate with Tigers' second run in fourth inning against Yale Saturday. When a line single by Tom Morris got away from Elis' left fielder, Filppin came all the way home from first. Bill Agnew (20) is signalling him that no slide is necessary because errant ball (top right) is still being chased by third baseman Dave Ready (13) and losing pitcher Ken MacKenzie (9).

Titles in Sight. Two Princeton teams will seek to move a step closer this weekend to championships that did not appear to be within reach when the season began. Defending champion Yale was favored to retain its eastern intercollegiate titles in baseball and tennis, but last Saturday Eli teams in these sports were turned back here and it is doubtful they will catch the surprising Tigers.

the baseball team will take on Pennsylvania, with a victory essential to enable it to outdistance the pack in the stretch run. Of its pursuers, Army and Yale have the best chance of nabbing the Orange and Black, which went into its game at West Point on Wednesday with a 5-0 mark.

At Ithaca, the tennis team is expected to have no trouble topping Cornell for its eighth straight triumph this season. Coach John Conroy's racket squad turned back Yale, 6-3, last Saturday and is now an odds-on favorite to recapture the title it held from 1950 through 1954.

Big Regatta on Carnegie. Varsity action here will be limited to a lacrosse game against Cornell on University Field at 2:30 and the always picturesque Eastern Sprint Championships for 150-lb. crews. These will be staged morning and afternoon on Lake Carnegie, with heats starting at 10 and the freshmen, jayvee and varsity finals at 4, 4:15 and 4:30.

Nine colleges are entered, with the victor to be ranked as the national champion inasmuch as other sections of the country do not compete at the 150-lb level in the sport. Crews will row representing Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Navy, Penn, Princeton and Yale.

Penn is the defending champion and, with Princeton, will be out to equal Harvard's mark of having won the event four times since competition among lightweight crews first began in 1938. All races will be staged over the Henley distance of 15/16 miles.

Off its performance last Saturday in winning the Goldthwait Cup, Princeton is the crew to beat. In leading Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth across the finish line, the Tigers trimmed a fifth of a second off the Carnegie record for the same distance over which they will race Saturday.

Leading throughout, they won by a full length and were timed in 6:33.8. Princeton's freshmen also defeated the other three colleges (in the same order), while Harvard won the jayvee race. Princeton—which had been rammed by Yale not far from the finish—was second after a new, floating start had been ordered by the referee—and Dartmouth was awarded third place over the disqualified Elis.

Varsity at Washington. The Eastern Championships for heavyweight crews also will be staged Saturday on the Potomac River at Washington. Yale, Cornell and Harvard are the favorites, with Princeton a question mark after its third-place showing in the Carnegie Cup and reshuffled personnel.

Seymour Cromwell, the seven oar, dropped out five days before the trip to Derby, Conn., for academic reasons and the Tigers could not recapture the power they had shown in beating Navy, Penn and Columbia. Whether they could have beaten Yale in any case remains a debatable point—the Elis have a tremendously good crew which defeated Penn by a much wider margin than Princeton did and last weekend whipped national champion Cornell in addition to the Tigers.

Princeton's freshmen will bear watching at Washington. Pete Gardiner's promising boatload lost to the Navy Plebes in their first race, but won handily at Derby last weekend and now number Yale, Cornell, Penn and Columbia among their victims.

Ball Team Wins Decisively. Princeton trimmed Yale in four of seven varsity events last weekend, winning baseball, golf, 150-lb. crew and tennis, with lacrosse, track and heavyweight crew going to the Elis. The 6-3 victory in lacrosse was Yale's first over the Tigers since 1932.

One of the most decisive triumphs, despite the relatively low score, was racked up by Eddie Donovan's ball team on University Field. In defeating defending champion Yale, 4 to 1, Captain Jim Gibson gave up only three hits and set the losers down in order in seven innings.

Gibson got the first 16 men to face him and appeared to have the 17th well in hand when he knocked down a sharp drive to the box and chased the ball toward first. However, he could not find the handle and the first Yale was abroad on the error.

A single to left and a pair of walks followed, the second pass forcing in a run and shaving the Tigers' lead to 3-1. With the bases still loaded, however, Gibson fanned pinch-hitter Art Bober and cleanup batter Ray Lamontagne. His curve was so deceptive that both men swung at third strikes which hit the dirt before catcher Ed McMillan scooped them up.

Topflight Pitching. Gibson had a tremendous day, fanning seven and allowing only five balls to be hit to the outfield. First baseman Bill Agnew and McMillan behind the bat made 21 of the 27 putouts between them.

The Tiger southpaw has now trimmed Navy, Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale, allowing a total of eight runs, only one of which was earned. It is accordingly unlikely that he will need more than three or four per game, plus adequate support afield, to pitch the Tigers to their first league championship since 1953.

Yale's Ken MacKenzie, a south-paw like Gibson, had the advantage of facing five left-handed batters in a row when he pitched here Saturday, but it wasn't enough. Agnew and McMillan punted him for five of the eight hits the Tigers got, and although he walked nary a batter while fanning nine, he was behind from the fourth inning on. Twice he contributed to his troubles with throwing errors on bunts at which Eddie Donovan's teams have always been so adept.

Princeton picked up its first two runs on singles by Agnew and McMillan, an infield out and a sharp hit to left by Tom Morris. The latter scored Agnew easily and when the ball got past left fielder Jim Brown, Flippin came all the way home from first.

The Orange and Black added another in the fifth when Gibson singled to center, Wert sacrificed and both runners were safe on MacKenzie's wide throw to first. Agnew forced Gibson, MacKenzie missing a likely double play when he threw to third instead of second, and McMillan singled to left to score Agnew.

The final Princeton tally was racked up in the seventh as Dale Casto reached second on a bunt hit and another error by MacKenzie. Gibson sacrificed him to third and after Wert had fanned, Agnew dropped a hit in right center to chase Casto across. A brief eighth inning flurry that produced two Yale hits ended on a foul pop to Agnew and in the ninth the losers went down in order for the seventh time.

Following the trip to West Point Wednesday, Rutgers was scheduled to play at University Field Thursday at 4 in a game that was rained out on May 2. The trip to Penn Saturday (Princeton has already beaten the Quakers, 9-2, in a non-league affair) will be followed by another to New York Tuesday to face Columbia.

The league-season will end—barring a playoff—when Cornell visits University Field Saturday, May 19. Yale, meanwhile, concludes its league season this Saturday with a game against Harvard and will stand at 7 and 2 if it trims the Crimson. Army, which took a 3-1 mark into the Princeton game, has Cornell, Columbia and Navy to play, plus a rained out game with Penn that

To Discuss Softball Fund

Nassau Lodge No. 2732, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold a meeting within the next two weeks to determine what disposition should be made of the benefit fund collected over a period of years for players injured during the season.

The money was raised through the tripleheaders held Labor Day weekend, and a number of medical and hospital bills were paid from the proceeds. An unused balance is in the account, and any player who saw action at any time in one of the league's sponsored by the Eagles is eligible to attend the meeting and to vote on disposition of the fund. The Community softball this season is under other sponsorship.

The time and place of the meeting will be announced in Town Topics.

will be rescheduled if the cadets still have a shot at the title.

Other Sports. Princeton's track team will go to West Point Saturday to partake in the Heptagonal Games but does not figure to finish among the top four teams. Hopes are that Captain Gabriel Markisohn, out of action with a pulled leg muscle since February, will be back in action.

The Tigers lost to Yale at New Haven Saturday, 78½ to 61½, but the day was noteworthy for a javelin toss credited to freshman Louis Eno. He hurled it 200 feet, 2¼ inches, breaking by three inches a Princeton record that had stood a full 30 years. The latter had been set by Murray Gibson '26.

Princeton's golfers will also be aiming for a championship this weekend, heading for Ithaca, N. Y. to play in the Eastern Intercollegiate. The favorite is Georgetown, only team to beat the Tigers this season while they were compiling a fine 8-1 record.

The team title is based on medal play, with the 16 top players qualifying for the individual championship, Fred Hovde (8-1 on the season) and Captain Wayne Bancroft are Princeton's best bets.

PHS Captain Beats Polio. After a lengthy bout with polio, Matthew Hafenmaier — co-captain-elect of Princeton High School's 1956 football team—was back in school this week, enjoying year-end activities and looking forward to the grid season ahead. "I'm feeling fine," he said, despite the fact that he was paralyzed from the hips down throughout most of the winter.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hafenmaier, Maple Avenue, Plainsboro, the PHS football star returned to school two weeks ago after spending almost three months in Middlesex County Hospital undergoing special polio treatment. He contracted the disease just before Christmas and spent some time in bed at home and at Princeton Hospital before being transferred to the New Brunswick hospital.

HANDICAP? WHAT'S THAT? An outlook on life of that kind from the time he was a little boy has helped make 12-year-old Bobby Swinerton a good pitcher despite the fact that he was born with only one arm. Here he shows how he gets along without trouble on the mound for the Witherpoon School: (1) His position after taking a throw from the catcher; (2) he deftly flips the ball into the air and transfers his glove to the right side; (3) he gets the grip he needs for the pitch he wants; and (4) he's ready to let go a typical "southpaw slant." Far more about what this youngster has accomplished, see Sports in Princeton. (Richards Photos.)

White track team last year, Hafenmaier was unable to resume these pursuits so soon after his convalescence. However, he was taking part in intramural baseball competition at PHS to prepare his body for the more demanding rigors of football in the fall. His weight was back up to 185, his normal playing weight.

Hafenmaier was the Little Tigers' outstanding guard last year. He will lead the 1956 eleven with Jim Mather, PHS wingback.

A Good Left Arm. A lot of people may be surprised to learn that 12-year-old Robert M. Swinerton, a sixth grader, is the starting pitcher for Witherpoon School's junior high baseball team — the first sixth grader ever to earn a berth on the "older boys" club. But those who know Robbie aren't surprised—even though the youngster has only one arm.

Robbie has been a baseball addict ever since he was old enough to spell "Kluszewski." He has always wanted to play ball. He has real determination — "heart," as they say on Broadway — so those close to the young southpaw never doubted he would do well in the face of high odds.

Born with the deformity, Robbie—known also as "One Arm" by his schoolmates — has never considered his physical shortcoming a handicap. Rather, he has succeeded in accomplishing the pursuits of happiness as well as any other normal child, being taught from a tender age by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Swinerton, 41 Maple Street, that he is capable.

Thus, with the proper attitude from the outset, Robbie has worked his way to the most important position on the Witherpoon team, and the same spot on the Tigers of Princeton's Midget League. He boasts a fine fast ball, enhanced by the arm muscles of a 14-year-old.

He Likes the Yankees. Through the amazing use of his deformed right limb, which extends an inch or so below the elbow and is almost as well-developed as the good arm, Robbie can swim, fish, play basketball, ride a bike, tie his own shoes and—well—do anything. The 90-pounder is also a member of the Witherpoon School basketball team, but baseball is by far his favorite sport.

Robbie has been living and breathing baseball for a long, long time, and his favorite big-league club has always been the Yankees. As a matter of fact, if Mickey Mantle was a pitcher, Robbie would have a Mickey Mantle glove instead of the Harvey Haddix mitt he purchased for $28 this spring. (Money for the all-important hunk of leather, incidentally, was made by the boy himself shovelling snow and performing other odd jobs during the winter.)

Asked if his father played baseball at Princeton High, Robbie exulted an ever-present sense of humor by responding, "I don't know—I wasn't around then." And asked about his batting average, he said, "Not too high," pointing out that arithmetic problems kept him off the school honor roll, therefore he couldn't be expected to figure his batting percentage, and adding, "Anyhow, pitchers aren't supposed to hit too well."

On the same subject, Robbie admitted that his brother, Eddie, 13, the regular third baseman for Witherpoon, appeared to be the hitter in the family.

Reason to Be Proud. Robbie Swinerton's parents are understandably proud of his achievements, observing that he is just as good at helping around their store (The Princeton Goody Shop) as he is on the baseball field. He also babysits with his younger brother, James, 5, and sister, Sally, 8, and takes care of household chores without complaint, according to his mother and father.

The one-armed pitcher had occasion to feel unhappy about a game last week, when he hurled a two-hitter for the Tigers and still lost the decision, 6-5, because one of his defenders dropped a routine fly ball and allowed two runs to score. But Robbie laughed it off, remembering that he still has plenty of games to go in league competition.

Such spirit is a perpetual thing with him and, for this reason as well as that fast ball, he will remain Jack Houghton's mound choice for the Tigers and Simeon Moss' No. 1 pitcher at Witherpoon. The latter, who has done much to help Robbie perfect his necessarily unorthodox hurling habits (see photo), probably wonders if he'll ever coach another sixth grader with the stuff possessed by his "handicapped" southpaw.

Good Things Must End. After going nine record years without a dual meet defeat, the Little Tigers of Princeton High were in the market for a new track attack this week. They tasted the bitter fruit of a crushing loss last Saturday as Lawrenceville School overwhelmed them, 75% to 41%, thereby stopping the Blue and White forces for the first time in 85 engagements — in decisive fashion.

The powerful prep team indicated last spring that it might be cooking up disaster for PHS when it managed the only tie against Coach Win Niles' run-ning, during the unprecedented skin. With many veterans from its 1953 squad, Lawrenceville took advantage of the Princeton this time, for Princeton's lack of hold-overs meant a telltale lack of depth.

As expected, the Little Tigers dominated the field events—thanks largely to Nick Kovalakides' third consecutive "triple"—but the Laurencians did crack through, for damaging victories in the high and broad jumps, two places where PHS had hoped for badly needed winning points. Coupled with their not surprising strength in the running events and good work on down the line, where the little points add up, this crack-through proved sufficient for the Lawrenceville competitor to institute their victory.

Kovalakides was a real shining knight for Princeton, taking the shot put and discus without undue difficulty and, for the second time this spring, establishing a new PHS mark in his favorite, the javelin throw. In Lawrenceville, the husky junior tossed the near 162 feet 6 inches, erasing his previous record throw of 181 feet 10 inches, set against Hamilton High.

John Reynolds of Lawrenceville captured Kovalakides' "triple" as he ran first in both high and low hurdles and won the high jump. Roddy Pannell, Princeton's sophomore floss, grabbed seconds in the high and broad jumps, yet was unable to cope with his opponent's experience in these vital events. Co-Captain Win Niles Jr. captured the pole vault for PHS, with a creditable leap of 11 feet 4 inches, while Gary Cortelyou was Princeton's only victor in the running events, crossing the tape in front in the 880 with a 2:03.7 clocking.

The Blue and White relay quartets, unimpressive so far this year, will try again this Saturday in the Long Branch Relays. Next Wednesday, the whole PHS team will be favored to start a new win streak at Long Branch's expense in a dual meet here.

Son At Wrong School. Morrell Shepard, Princeton High baseball coach, realized this week that his club's losing record might have been a winning one—if, if his son, Alan, was a student at PHS. Instead of Hun School.

Alan did much of the work as the unbeaten Red and Black nine lost Delbarton School, 4-4, for its eight straight triumph. He pitched an effective seven-hitter for his second win and his timely base hit climaxed Hun's five-run, back-breaking fifth inning.

To help young Shepard along the way to victory, Coach Zig Emery's players produced the same line hitting attack that has marked every game to date. Third Baseman Frank Lewallan handed three safeties, including a double in the two-run first and a single during the fifth-frame rally, and Shortstop Earl Cottrell continued his fine work by starting things with a two-run triple in the opening round.

Having enjoyed the benefits of many home games in recent weeks, the Johnny Huns will now take to the road for a series of quick out-of-town contests. They will meet Bryn Allyn this Friday, Delbarton again next Monday and Fair next Wednesday, all away from Princeton.

Dog Show Results. Dr. Walker Bleekney of 633 Prospect Avenue Extension placed second in the Novice A class of the Trenton Kennel Club Dog Show Sunday with his dachshund, Echo. He was credited with 197½ points out of 200.

In fourth place in the show, held at the National Guard Armory at Eggers Crossing, was MacGregor, a Golden Retriever owned by Mrs. W. Gould Jones of Princeton Junction. Other members of the Princeton Dog Training Club whose entries (both Boxers) qualified but did not place were Mrs. Virginia Knudsen of Trenton and John Gibbons, Jr. of Milltown.

overlap. Slash pockets angle down the front. Comes in natural, pink, yellow and aqua. Moysgashel presents a skirt with stitched dures, and several cotton skirts offer a plain background spattered with random dots or confetti. Bathing suits at Rosette Pennington comes from Schiaparelli, Cobana and Tine Lester by way of Gaber. Printed cottons have skirts, others have shorts. They start at $10.55.

We liked a black, white and tan print with a black back and front panel lined in orange. Another is striped with a trimming of little black fringe. A toro print comes from the hand of Picasso, and another is a Duffy. Everybody's in the swim these days.

Short Story. Men's shorts at Princeton Clothing (47 Witherspoon) start at $3.95. Here's a cotton twill in black, khaki, olive green. Cords come in cool blue, grey or tan with belted backs. A pair of chino shorts costs $4.50. The long side of the story is a pair of slacks in khaki or black at $3.95.

Belts for all sizes in plaid, wool foulards or stripes. Here's a red and black striped belt with a gold hair line. Black and olive stripes would match a pair of olive shorts. Or consider wool chellies (yes, a belt of wool chellies) in dark green with intermittent yellow dashes. These are $1.50 and $2.50.

"When Kids fly Kites...the string is the Thing"

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE SAFETY RULES AND AVOID SERIOUS ELECTRIC BURNS OR FATAL ELECTRIC SHOCK!

- Stay away from electric power lines! Choose an open space free from wires, poles, large trees, large stones, ditches and obstacles of any sort.
- Never use wire in place of string and never use cord with metal strands. This type of string is a conductor of electricity. If it comes in contact with electric power lines you will receive serious injury.
- Use cotton, silk or nylon string. It must be dry!
- Never climb poles or trees near electric wires to retrieve a kite. It's better to lose a kite than a life.
- When flying kites, stay out of streets and other places used by motor vehicles.

Too Close For Comfort

Mother Nature was responsible for a "freak" accident in Princeton this week, but she spared a home that was housing eight sleeping youngsters—by inches.

During Sunday night's blinding and brilliant lightning storm, a huge tree was struck behind the home of Mrs. Mildred Silvis, 2 Alexander Street Extension. Township patrolmen, on duty in the area, saw the direct hit and watched a ball of lightning roll down the tree's trunk, but had no idea there would be any more to the incident. Neither did Mrs. Silvis, so she and one other adult and eight children went to bed.

Next morning, the tree was found overturned—only inches from the house—and smoldering. Fire had gutted its thoroughly rotten trunk, strong winds probably had accounted for the belated fall. Thanking Mother Nature for coming close, and yet so far, Mrs. Silvis summoned the hook and ladder engine to douse the blaze.

Smyth Named Chairman. William N. Smyth has been elected to succeed Howard B. Waxwood as chairman of the Princeton Playgrounds Committee, an agency of the United Community Fund. Other officers chosen are Mrs. Charles W. Link, honorary chairman; Mr. Maxwood, vice-chairman; Ellis G. Willard, vice-chairman; Francis G. Clark, secretary; and John C. Yeoman, treasurer.

According to Mr. Smyth, the summer recreation program will be held from July 2 to August 24. The playgrounds and wading pools will be in operation Monday through Friday during that period with adult supervision. Plans are also being formulated by the committee again to organize a Junior Baseball League for boys 15 and under.

Playgrounds will be located at Harrison Street, Princeton High School, Witherspoon Street, Marquand Park and Chestnut Street. The wading pools will be at John Street, Pine Street and Harrison Street. Plans are also being completed by the Borough Engineering Department for a wading pool and play area on Erdman Avenue, at the site of the former Jugtown playground.

Smyth said that the community championship tennis tournament will be offered as an evening activity for adults starting in July. Matches are played on the University Courts in the tournament, which will include men's and women's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles. Junior girls and boys tournaments will be played during the last two weeks in June.

New members of the Playgrounds Committee appointed include Mrs. Oscar Sussman, Mrs. G. C. Akerlof and Robert C. Schmidt. Other members of the

"Just Can't Seem to Hit." When PHS Baseball Coach Morrill Shepard predicted early last month that he would field a good team this season, he didn't figure his Little Tigers were going to be a complete flop at the plate. But, here it is more than a month later and punchless Princeton, with a lineup that "just can't seem to hit," has lost four of its first five games, including three shutouts.

The latest whitewash job, probably the most decisive of the lot, took place in Long Branch last Friday as the Branchers blanked PHS, 7-0, limiting the visitors to a pair of inconsequential singles. To make matters worse, 13 Princeton outs during the course of the rain-shortened, six-inning encounter were strikeouts and only three Little Tigers got to feel first base beneath their cleats.

Russ Watson, who must be classified among the most unlucky of hard-luck hurlers, pitched a reasonable game for Princeton—allowing only seven hits (one of them a three-run homer)—but his teammates again collected no runs behind him and instead contributed three damaging errors to compound the diamond felony.

For the record, Catcher Alan Ammerman and Shortstop Dave Britton managed the pair of PHS safeties, and Watson struck out five while walking only one.

The Little Tigers were slated to meet a good Lawrenceville nine this Wednesday, too late for inclusion in Town Topics' current issue, and will face a tough schedule during the week ahead. Long Branch will be here for a second game this Friday, and Princeton will travel to play Hamilton High (its sole victim) next Monday before engaging Ewing High (one of the shutout winners) at home next Wednesday.

Valley Road Wins. A five-run first inning won for the Valley Road School baseball team Tuesday in its first game of the season against Princeton Country Day School. It was a 7-4 final on the victors' field.

PCD pushed across all its runs in the opening round, too, but was blanked thereafter and contributed five errors to aid the Valley Road scoring. The home team added two more in the second to close out the day's run-making.

Country Day dropped its first game of the spring last Friday to Tower Hill of Wilmington, Del. by a 3-2 count. Its record is now 3-2.

Social Club Starts Fast. Picking up where it left off last fall, the Nassau Social Club this week posted its second straight triumph and grabbed an early lead in the 1956 Princeton Community League Softball standings. NSC walloped Frazee's Seafood, 16-9, after taking its opener against the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club by a 5-1 count.

Veteran pitcher Huck McCready, starting and finishing the first win and relieving in the second game, was instrumental in helping the top-seeded club conquer its initial foes. George Sella, former Princeton University standout athlete, showed the way in the power department with four hits—including a double and two home runs—during this week's success.

The unlucky Sportsmen's Club team dropped its second consecutive contest Tuesday evening, dropping a close but poorly played outing to Drake's Plumbing & Heating of Belle Mead, 8-7. The I-A entry outhit Drake's, 12 to 9, but Red Bergen was too good in the clutch situations particularly when fanning the last two batters to face him with the tying and winning runs on base.

In the only other meeting this week, Laidlaw & Co. (originally the World Federalists) defeated the Hopewell Fire Company, 10-2. Sam Lisa hurled the two-hit victory, with Tom Procaccino behind the plate, and his teammates supported him with 13 safeties and only one miscue. Last week, the fire department team battled to a 6-6 deadlock with ASCOP, necessitating a re-play later on in the season.

To the Rascua?

A Princeton couple returned to their car Saturday evening after the movies and were stunned to find a man slumped in the adjoining car with the engine running and the doors locked.

Suspecting the worst, they tried to rouse him, but couldn't get a stir. They then smashed in his ventilation window, and another passerby, grasping the situation, stove in the side window with a slab of concrete.

Sgt. Raymond Mondone arrived on the scene shortly to find an irate gentleman who had "dozed off" while waiting for his wife — and had strong feelings about who should pay for his broken windows.

Arrange Tenth Reunion. Invitations have been mailed for the 10th reunion of the Princeton High School Class of 1946, the reunion committee has announced. A reunion dinner-dance is scheduled June 2 at the Nassau Tavern, beginning at 6 p.m.

The committee requests that any member of the class who has failed to receive an invitation should contact a member of the reunion group. Relatives of members of the class living out-of-town are requested to inform them of the planned reunion.

Members of the reunion committee include Nicholas Carnevale, Mark Heald, Raymond Hunt, William Karch, Gerald Silvester, Gail Potterson Carnevale, Margaret Venohle Dorsey, Carolyn Hyslop Koppes, Dorothy Vandewater Hunt, Doris Windas Nini and Ruth Sharretts Westlin.

Elected to Dartmouth Honor. Clarence D. Kerr 3d, son of Mrs. Cornelia D. Kerr Jr. of Constitution Hill has been selected for membership in Casque and Gauntlet, one of the three senior honor societies at Dartmouth College.

Mr. Kerr is one of a group from the class of 1957 to receive the honor, which for the past 70 years has been accorded to men who have been outstanding in their class. A graduate of Deerfield Academy, he is an English major and a brother in Sigma Alpha Epsilon at Dartmouth.

He is vice-president of the junior class, a member of the Undergraduate Council and in the past served on the Sophomore Orientation Committee and on his dormitory governing board. Mr. Kerr was a member of the freshman track team and a member of the glee club during his freshman year.

Princeton In a Nation's Service. Led by a team of Princeton University archaeologists, a five-year expedition has entered the second phase of excavations in its effort to expose the secrets of a mystery city that vanished from civilization some 22 centuries ago.

Site of the ancient Greek metropolis, at Serra Orlando in central Sicily, was unearthed in 1953 by Professor Erik Sjoqvist of the Department of Art and Archaeology during an archaeological reconnaissance of the Eastern Mediterranean area. A first phase of digging last fall revealed a well-preserved architectural plan featuring highly original and advanced concepts of civic planning, monumental fortifications and evidences of thriving industry in the city whose name is still unknown.

In his initial progress report this week, Dr. Sjoqvist said the mystery metropolis probably flourished as a commercial center during the Hellenistic period from 300 to 200 B.C. "The city was considerably larger than we had originally suspected," according to the Princeton professor. "There must have been ample space within its long and narrow area for perhaps 20,000 to 30,000 inhabitants."

Artifacts found at Serra Orlando indicate that the city was "never thoroughly a Greek settlement," Dr. Sjoqvist observed, theorizing that it was established and fortified because of its strategic importance in the wars between the Carthaginians and the Greek city-states. Archaeological evidence also demonstrates that "If there came to an end very abruptly about 200 B.C.," he noted. "The possibility of fixing the date depends on an unusually rich harvest of ancient coins strewn over the area."

Stillwell Guides Second Phase. Professor Richard Stillwell, also of the Department of Art and Archaeology, left for Sicily last month with Mrs. Stillwell to serve as field director of the group now beginning the second phase of excavations. As was the case during the first phase, the Princeton contingent of archaeologist, technicians and graduate students will be aided by some 75 native laborers.

Responsible for contributing heavily to Dr. Sjoqvist's initial report, as a result of their participation in the opening spawork, were Miss Frances F. Jones, 114 Alexander Street, curator of classical art at the Princeton University Art Museum; Miss Helen Woodruff, 81 Cleveland Lane, former director of the Index of Christian Art at the University; Alex S. News of the Churches

New Church Homes. The Jewish and Unitarian congregations of Princeton have both announced plans for new buildings to house their religious social, and educational activities.

The Unitarian congregation has given unanimous approval to preliminary architects' plans for a new church to be built on the corner of Cherry Hill Road. The worship hall and its adjacent church school will be erected on the four-acre site at a cost of approximately $125,000. Fund raising will begin in the fall, according to Peter B. Putnam, president of the Unitarian Church of Princeton.

For the past several years, the Unitarians have been meeting at Avalon. There will be an interval of a year between the razing of Avalon this fall and the completion of the new church building. During that time the Unitarian congregation and church school will use the Witherspoon "Y" building and Dorothea's House on John Street, through the courtesy of the YWCA and YMCA.

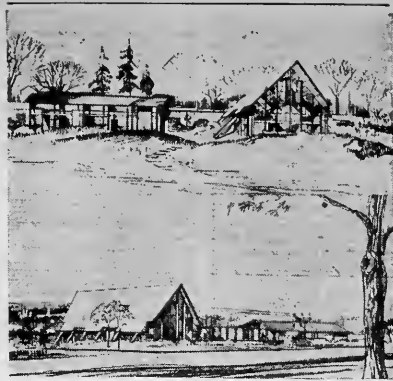

Charles Warner, Jr., of New York is the architect of the new buildings. He has been working with a building committee of the church under the chairmanship of Rowan Boone.

A tract of 1 3/4 acres has been acquired by the Jewish Center for the future construction of a synagogue. The land is located on Nassau Street between the Tax Institute and Heereman's Floral Shop.

While actual building plans have not yet been prepared, the Center expects to use a site plan that will provide a building setback of 100 feet from Nassau Street, and will preserve an existing hedge and many large old trees. There will also be provision for off-street parking.

After the Center leaves its present building on Olden Avenue, it will hold services at Westminster Choir College. Seymour Bogdanoff, its chairman of the building committee and Robert Sauber is head of the finance committee.

Church Women Hold Luncheon. The spring luncheon of the Princeton Council of Church Women

STONE, TIMBER AND GLASS, treated in the modern manner, will be used for the new Unitarian church buildings. The worship hall, with its sharply pitched roof, has a seating capacity of 200. A minister's study and a social area are included in this main building. Joined to the hall by an enclosed walkway, the church school contains eight classrooms for 110 pupils. There is parking space for over 100 cars. The top view shows the buildings as they will appear from Cherry Hill Road, and the lower sketch shows the view from Somerville Road.

men will be held next Thursday, May 17 at 1 p.m. in the Parish House of Trinity church.

Mrs. Theodore Q. Wedel, national president of the United Church Women of the Council of Churches will be the speaker. She has chosen for her talk, "The Place of Women in the Church."

An active laywoman in the Episcopal Church, Mrs. Wedel served for four years as national director of youth work for the church. In Honolulu last year she was presiding officer of the Triennial Meeting of Episcopal Women. She has recently served as a member of the World Council of Churches' Department on the Cooperation of Men and Women.

All church women in Princeton are invited to attend this luncheon, and those who wish to do so should make reservations by next Monday, Mrs. Matthew Fleming, Jr., 1-1638, will accept reservations.

Men's Meetings. J. Arthur Lazell, Presbyterian minister who has spent most of his life in newspaper work, will speak to the men of the First Presbyterian church on "Presbyterians: Leaders or Followers?" at the meeting of the Men's Association this Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

A graduate of Princeton Seminary, 1931, he is at present information editor of the department of history of the Presbyterian church.

Men of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian church will breakfast together at 8:30 a.m. this Sunday at the Princeton Inn. The speaker at this meeting will be Dr. Robert Garber, superintendent of the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute, Skillman.

Women's Meetings. Mrs. J. H. Haines, missionary from Malaya, will speak to the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian church next Monday at 11:30 a.m. She will show a colored film, "Ming May of Malaya." The pre-luncheon meeting is under the chairmanship of Mrs. L. C. Groom. At 12:45 p.m. a luncheon will be held with Circle II and IV as hostesses. The afternoon program will open at 1:45 and the theme will be "The Christian Home." Mrs. George Brown, Princeton resident who serves on the staff of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, will lead this portion of the program.

The following Monday, May 21, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Jose L. Valencia of Manila, P.I., will be the speaker at the Trenton-Princeton-New Brunswick area meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. This meeting will be held at the Princeton Methodist church. Mrs. Valencia will discuss her work as national president of the W.S.C.S. in the Philippines.

Haydn's "Creation." Franz Josef Haydn's "The Creation" will be presented by the Oratorio Choir of Princeton Theological Seminary next Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in Miller Chapel. The choir will be under the direction of David Hugh Jones, professor of music at the Seminary.

Soloists will be Martha Dooley, Edna Linsley, Carina Mechem, Margery Stetson, Dorothy Talbot, Williams Book, Arlo Daba, Jerry Flanagan, James McKeeve, Alexander McKelway and John Talbot. Organ and piano accompaniment will be played by David Prince and Thomas Fisher.

a 1953 Princeton graduate; and Mrs. Sijqvist.

Drs. Stillwell and Sjoqvist, co-directors of Princeton's Archaeological Expedition in Sicily, have concurred wholeheartedly in the belief that "excavations are a part of research essential to the advancement of scholarship and learning in archaeology, art, the classics and history." For this reason, the expedition is being financed primarily by the University with additional support from a Bollingen Foundation grant.

Explaining Serra Orlando's interesting background, the co-directors said it became a lost chapter in the pages of history when it was overgrown by forest in the heart of the Roman Empire. It remained forgotten through the rise and fall of the Byzantine Empire, the period of Arab rule, the Norman and the Norman Kingdom. In the 15th or 16th centuries, the land was cleared for farming, and for the past four centuries the farmers of the nearby village of Aidone have grown their wheat and pastured their flocks where the Hellenistic city once stood.

Princetonian Fulbright winner, John H. D'Arms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. D'Arms, Princeton-Kingston Road, has been awarded a Fulbright Award for study of comparative literature at the University of Bordeaux in France next year.

Mr. D'Arms, 21, a senior at Princeton majoring in Classics, has been active in Princeton musical organizations and last summer served as associate director of

One hundred Christmas ferns have been presented to Marquand Park by the University League Garden Club in memory of Mrs. W. Samuel Howell. The Garden Club of Princeton has presented a number of shrubs and trees now planted around the parking lot.

James L. Spencer of The North Road has been elected a director of the Thermocold Co., Trenton. A management consultant, Mr. Spencer is a former vice-president of the Campbell-Ewald Advertising Agency.

Trenton State Teachers College alumni will gather at Hillwood Lakes Saturday to mark the college's 100th anniversary. Michael S. Kline, assistant principal of the Witherspoon School, is general chairman of the committee in charge.

Mrs. Thomas E. Forington, chairman of the Princeton Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, has been elected recording secretary of the New Jersey State branch of the League.

village Club Scout Pack 27 will meet Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Lawrenceville Chapel. It will be the last pack meeting of the year. Cubs will exhibit downstairs their projects for the year and first and second prize ribbons will be awarded by Cubmaster John Thomas. Arrangements are currently being made for the annual picnic and will be announced shortly.

Final Canteen Dance. The Lawrence Teen-age Canteen will hold its final dance of the season this Saturday night from 8:30 to 11:30. Lawrence Junior High. The dance, open to any Lawrence Township teen-ager, with no charge and with the privilege of bringing one guest, will wind up a highly successful series.

The canteen is sponsored by the Lawrence Township Police Patrolmen's Benevolent Association and is made possible through the contributions of business and professional men. Along with dancing and music, the evenings feature prizes for various dances and are broadcast from WBUD, with Dave Howard doing his show "Music Shop" direct from the dance.
